Ashes, O're distraction scene. Your companion ^{runs in, Donned in leaves, sticks, and an ashen face.}
"Fi'ju teach you! Fi'ju teach you!"

The ogres shoot up and stand by each other. They share a couple moments as your companion hops from side to side. One oge reaches for a club, yet the other smacks him hard with the back of his hand. He grumbles something low to that oge and that oge drops his club and raises his brow.

"Fi'ju teach you! Fi'ju teach you!" Your companion continues the methodical dancing, hopping from one foot to the other, while ^{wildly} dangling ~~his~~ his arms.

~~One~~ One oge steps forward and kneels. "What would you ~~have us~~ do Fi'ju spirit?" The other drops to a knee too.

Your companion stops ~~their~~ their dancing and slowly approaches. The ogres ~~exchange~~ exchange a look of fear then continue looking down. Even while kneeling, these ogres are still up to your companion's shoulders.

Your companion tilts their heads up, lifts their thumb, dips it in the sack of ashes and ~~paints~~ paints a curved mark from one side of their face to another.

"Fi'ju teach you. Fi'ju sees you. We ~~are~~ are scared. Fi'ju commands such, leave this forest. Go as far as the sky heat touches. Wander. Fi'ju your strength. The wilderness is yours."
